Neabsco District Supervisor Victor S. Angry and Michelle Angry have been married for over 35 years and moved to Dale City, Virginia in 2003 where they raised two children, Dominique and Alexxyus. His children attended Martin Luther King, Jr. Elementary School, Stuart M. Beville Middle School and graduated from C.D. Hylton High School. His wife is an eight-year Army Veteran and currently teaches in Prince William County as an Instructional Assistant.

Supervisor Angry was born in Altamonte Springs, Florida and after graduating from Lyman High School in June 1986, he enlisted into the United States Army. It was in the Army where Supervisor Angry developed a love for leadership, fitness and the commitment to lead and serve others.

Supervisor Angry served in the United States Army for over 23 years and retired as a Command Sergeant Major with the distinction of serving as the Command Sergeant Major of the entire Army National Guard where he was responsible for the health and welfare of over 368,000 Guardsman and their families. He was the first African American to be assigned as the Command Sergeant Major, serving on an interim basis to lead the Enlisted Force during a challenging and changing time in leadership. During his military career, he led at every position from Squad Leader, Platoon Sergeant, First Sergeant and finally to Command Sergeant Major. He achieved numerous military awards and received two Legions of Merit.

After his retirement from the Army, Supervisor Angry continued his service to others by joining the Dale City Volunteer Fire Department (DCVFD) in 2011. In 2012, he became the Department Public Education Coordinator working with the Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and other youth in Prince William County. As a member of DCVFD, Supervisor Angry served on its Board of Directors for 12 years.

Supervisor Angry was sworn into office on April 11, 2019 as the Neabsco District Supervisor on the Prince William Board of County Supervisors finishing out the remaining term of the previous Supervisor. Supervisor Angry ran again in November 2019 to serve his first four year term – 2020 to 2023 and won another re-election to serve his second four year term - 2024 to 2027. He was the first African American to be elected to the Prince William Board of County Supervisors and serves as the most senior ranked elected official.
